

Kitchen Splashbacks - What are my options?

Top tips for choosing the best splashback design for your kitchen.

Glass Splashbacks

A popular splashback material, due to its clean, contemporary and long-lasting look, as well as many design options.

Printed patterns or images allow a distinct personality to be added to any kitchen design. Simple painted splashbacks in gloss or matt formats can add colour to a neutral kitchen or tone in with your chosen colours.

Laminam™ and Duropol Pyroex

Duropol Pyroex (high-pressure laminate) offer easy-to-clean formats as well as quick installation times in a narrow range of colours.

Laminam (large format ceramic sheets) can add texture to the splashback space with hard-wearing, non-combustible options perfect for kitchens.

Tiled Splashbacks

A current on-trend material for splashback options are tiles. Tiles can come in a range of shapes and textures, and you may also choose to utilise a coloured grout for pops of colour or drama as a design feature.

Keep in mind that tiles are a more high maintenance option, and require upkeep with cleaning.

Metalier Splashbacks

Metalier coated splashbacks are relatively new to the market. They are real metal coatings which are sprayed or applied to almost any substrate.
